

Message from the General Chairs

It gives us great pleasure to welcome you to the Second International Conference on Security and Privacy in Communication Networks (SecureComm 2006). The technical program of SecureComm 2006 presents a collection of excellent papers on various aspects of computer networks security and brings together leading researchers to enhance the intellectual atmosphere of the Conference. We are hoping that the technical programs of the Conference will stimulate future research in this area.

We would like to thank all of you for coming to the Conference to participate and discuss the status of the current research and future research directions of this exciting field. The panel, the keynote/invited talks, and papers presented at the Conference will highlight the principles and practice necessary to build next generation, secure communication networks. Such networks are critical to emerging applications like financial markets, e-commerce, business and government organizations, etc.

We would like to thank Program Chairs Dr. Steve Kent of BBN and Professor Gene Tsudik of UC Irvine and members of the Program Committee who worked hard to put a strong technical program for the Conference. We would also like to thank various chairs and members of the organizing committee for their tireless work to make this Conference a success. We would also like to thank IEEE Communications Society, CreateNet for co-sponsoring the event and ICST for taking care of conference organization.

I hope you will enjoy your stay in Baltimore and make this Conference an intellectually stimulating and enjoyable meeting.

Mukesh Singhal
University of Kentucky
Conference General Co-Chair

John Baras
University of Maryland, College Park,
Conference General Co-Chair